Opus is joining First North Premier

Opus Prodox AB (publ) has been approved by NASDAQ OMX for joining First North's new market segment, First North Premier. First North Premier involves stricter requirements on information disclosure and accounting principles than the normal rules on First North. The higher demands improve the possibility for investors to evaluate and compare companies on the new market segment.

For additional information see <http://nasdaqomx.com/listingcenter/firstnorth/premier>.

"Preparations for a future listing of Opus on OMX Small Cap continue, although in a slower pace as a result of the current market climate. The list exchange to First North Premier is a natural step in this process where we continuously raise the company's ambitions with regards to market communication and corporate governance", says Opus Chairman Göran Nordlund.

The first day of trading on NASDAQ OMX First North Premier will be September 22, 2009. Opus will also continue to be traded under the ticker OPUS.
